USE OF PORTIERES

MUST HARMONIZE WITH THEIR SURROUNDINGS.

Unless in Accord with Other Furnishings of the Room Their Utility Is Destroyed—Suggestions Worth Remembering.

Portieres should beautify rooms, but if the general style, material and pattern of these hangings are not appropriate and in harmony with the surroundings, then they may mar the effect of a whole apartment.

This is particularly true when the doorways of small rooms are to be hung, for unless the draperies are in accord with other fittings abnormal proportions are made and the lines of the entire room rendered grotesque.

In choosing designs for portieres to be used in small rooms, get plain stuff, or when the ceilings are low, striped goods, for the perpendicular lines add height to the ceiling.

Never, unless the room is large, select hangings with big-figured devices, for the contrast between the size of the pattern and the room space is so great as to dwarf the doorway.

The apparent weight of such draperies should be governed by the size of the room. If the apartment is small, light-weight materials are in better taste than portieres made in sets.

The latter if the figures are woven in self colors or tapestries are not bad, but when crude combinations of colors are seen, or enormous and none too graceful patterns finished with deeply-knotted fringe, they should be passed by in favor of something different. The only fringe suitable now for portieres is the narrow "thumb," either in balls or tassels.

Reps in plain colors, heavy pongee silks, burlaps, denims and other thin materials having just enough weight not to blow straight with each draft are prettiest for doors in apartments. Larger rooms will take tapestries, brocades and velveteens, either figured or plain.

All portieres will wear longer if they are lined—that is, if backed with a material the same shade to give them more body.

PELISSE FOR THE WINTER.

Dressy Garment Made Up in Plain or Corduroy Velvet.

Velveteen either plain or corduroy, makes a dressy little pelisse for winter wear, and if of a good quality will clean nicely, and many of them will wash. Our model is in a pretty shade of grayish green, lined with white silk; it is a plain sacque shape, double-breasted; the collar and cuffs are faced with cream lace.

The bonnet is of cream satin, the turned-back brim being faced with coarse lace, rosettes and strings of ribbon.

Materials required: Three yards velveteen, four yards silk, and one yard lace.

Stylish Gloves.

The American woman, notwithstanding she is generally understood to be the best dressed woman in the world, is being criticised by her foreign cousin for one thing or another. The latest accusation is that the American woman wears her gloves too small.

"They are so much too small at times," writes a Parisian critic, "that the glove fingers scarcely cover two-thirds of madame's finger, and the top button is near the palm of her hand instead of at the wrist line."

Whereas it is none of this critic's business how Americans wear their gloves, it is an awkward thing to see ladies from any country who wear gloves that are too small.

Taut Little Motor Hats.

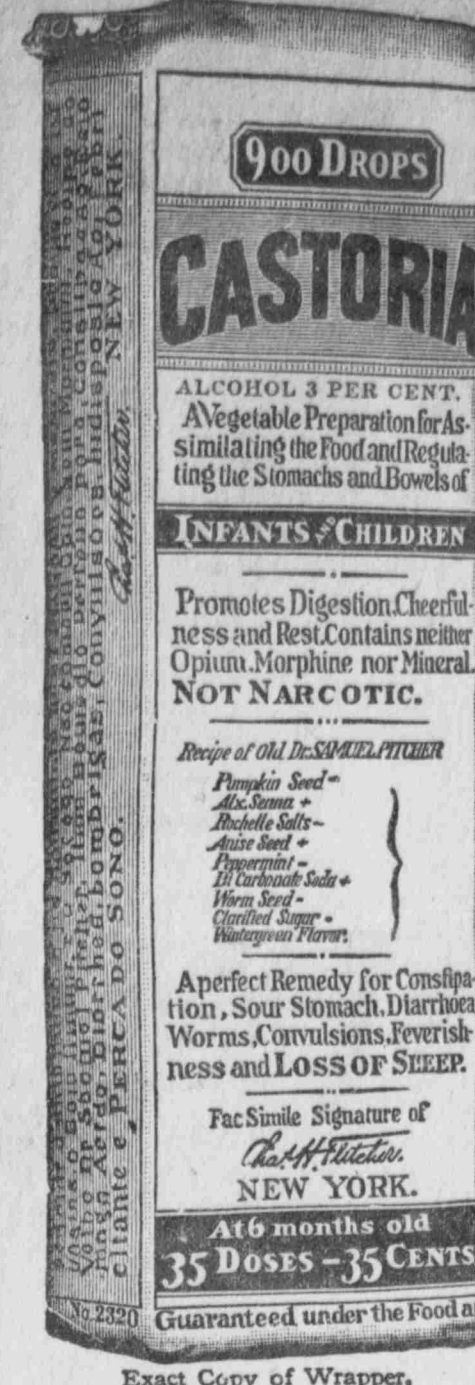

Smart little motor hats or caps are made of gray squirrel in close-fitting shapes with Nattier or Copenhagen blue chiffon or gauze veils for trimming, the veils being manipulated into big choux at the sides of the front and then drawn back and down to cover hair and throat and brought forward to tie under the chin. A Peter Pan cap in fur, too, makes a chic and practical little motor cap easily swathed in a veil.

Trio of Fashion Hints.

Broad bands of cretonne veiled with chiffon are used by Paris designers as trimmings on foundation skirts of handsome net and lace costumes.

Black spangled trimmings in novel effects will be popular for silk gowns this season. Black passementeries in new designs are also shown.

Owing to the somber colors of many of the new materials and the mixture of black in many fancy fabrics, black trimming will be used greatly.

PORTRAITS OF

KENTUCKY'S GOVERNORS

FREE, FREE!

Every Governor's Picture from Isaac Shelby to Augustus E. Wilson.

For the first time in the history of the State a complete collection of the portraits of Kentucky's Governors has been secured, and the Louisville Evening Post has made it possible to place them in the hands of every citizen of this grand old Commonwealth.

The collection was secured after art galleries and private collections all over the United States had been drawn upon. A few of them are very rare, and one of the Governors is the only picture in existence. It was secured at an expense of several hundred dollars.

The portraits of Kentucky Governors are grouped around a new map of Kentucky which has just been especially engraved at a cost of $3,500, and is the latest and best map of Kentucky ever printed. It shows all of the new railroads built in Kentucky in 1907.

In addition to the latest Kentucky map and portraits of Kentucky's Governors, there are nine other maps of great value, among them a map of the United States, showing all of the new possessions, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and a map of Panama showing the canal zone, also a map of the world.

In addition to these maps there are the portraits of all the Presidents of the United States and the Rulers of all Nations, together with coat of arms and flags. The three last census reports and a complete census report of all the towns in the State of Kentucky.

Taking this wall chart as a whole it is one of the latest up-to-date atlases for the home that has been produced up to this time.

It contains six pages 28x36 inches. This wall chart is given away absolutely free to readers of this paper. Ask us about it.

Every home in Kentucky should have one of these Governors' Wall Charts, for there has never before been published in any form a complete collection of Kentucky Governors' portraits, and every man, woman and child in every home of the State should know who all of their Governors have been and when they served.

It has cost the Evening Post several thousand dollars to secure this collection of Kentucky Governors' portraits, and while the chart alone is worth at least $1.50, yet we give it away to old subscribers who renew their subscription or to new subscribers. Everybody should have a daily newspaper this year as well as their county paper. This is Presidential year. Call at our office and see this splendid Kentucky Governors' Wall Chart, or send for circular with full description.

A Straw Clock.
An extraordinary addition has been made to the exhibition of inventions now being held in Berlin. A shoe-maker named Wegner, living in Strasburg, sent in a clock of the grandfather shape, nearly six feet high, made entirely of straw. The wheels, pointers, case and every detail are exclusively of straw. Wegner has taken 15 years to construct this strange piece of mechanism. It keeps perfect time, a Berlin report says.
